

USAID Forward by the numbers

DELIVERING RESULTS

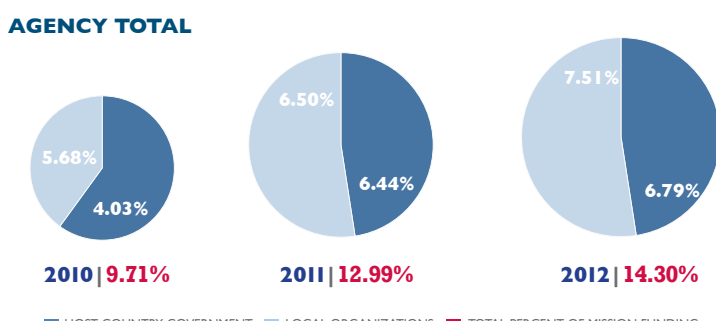

Since 2011, we've produced 186 high-quality evaluations around the world that have led to important discoveries about where to focus our strategies and when to change course where our efforts don't deliver the results we know they can.

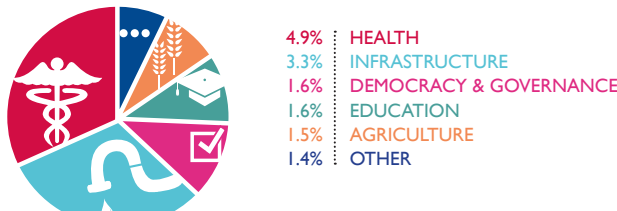

ACHIEVING SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Partnering with local organizations is an important part of building local, long-term leadership for development efforts. The amount of funding we've directed to local groups and governments has increased significantly since 2010.

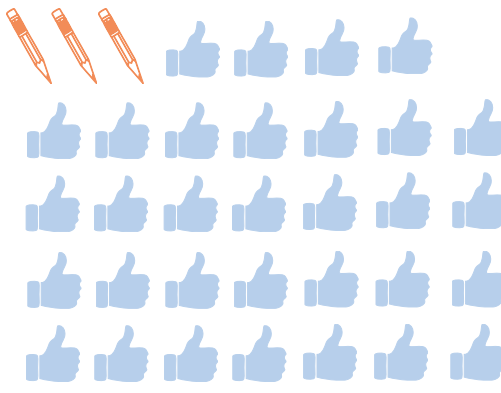

14.3%
$1.4 BILLION
TOTAL MISSION FUNDING TO LOCAL INSTITUTIONS IN 2012

Our local funding supported these sectors:

33 missions completed initial overview assessments...

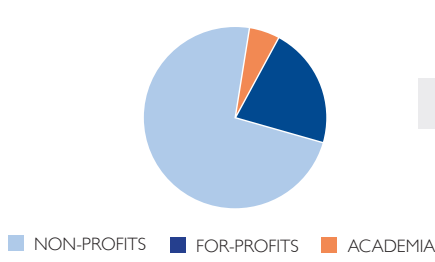

30 of which countries successfully continued on to more detailed "Stage 2" assessments to determine if local funding could be directed securely

69 awards were made to host governments...

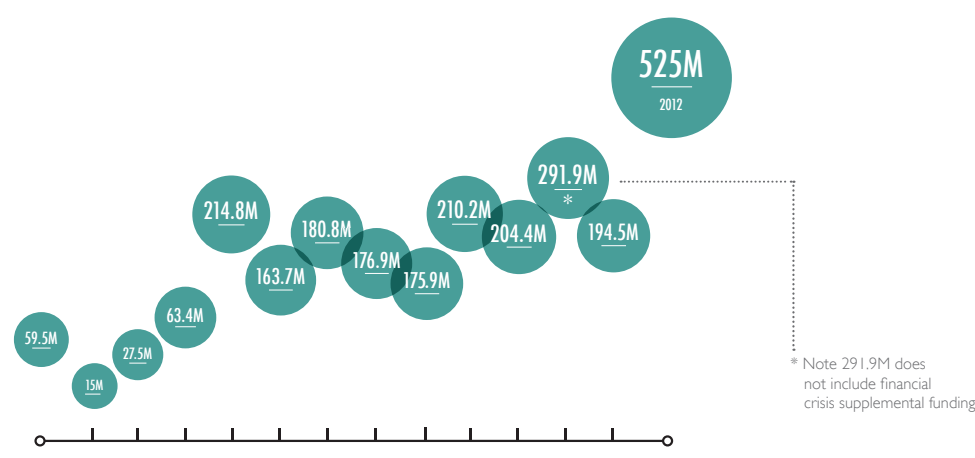

17% to National Governments
17% to Local or Regional Governments
65% to Ministries/other National Government Bodies

almost $745M was awarded to local organizations...

in 73 missions worldwide.

Through our Development Credit Authority, we partnered with local financial institutions to get capital to underserved borrowers around the world—including $525 million last year alone.

The Development Credit Authority's efforts are increasingly focused where opportunity is highest: Africa and agriculture.

UTILIZING INNOVATION

To recapture our strong legacy of delivering progress through innovation, we're placing a new emphasis on leveraging the creativity of an increasingly diverse scientific and development community.

6 new mobile money initiatives

70% of Development Innovation Ventures applicants are new to USAID

50% of Grand Challenges for Development grant proposals come from developing countries

$383M leveraged last year through hundreds of public-private partnerships

500 APPLICATIONS FROM 49 U.S. STATES AND 36 COUNTRIES to build our network of 7 Development Innovation Labs
